

SSL vs TLS

SSL or Secure Socket Layer is an older implementation of encryption between two hosts. Even the newer versions have vulnerabilities and are considered insecure. This has been almost universally replaced by Transport Layer Security (TLS) which is more secure and faster.

Revision #1

Created 2 February 2024 23:26:05 by Matthew B.

Updated 2 February 2024 23:29:21 by Matthew B.